

Jenna Rajani

Front End Developer
Perceptive, Exuberant, Industrious

jjrajani@gmail.com
github.com/jjrajani
linkedin.com/in/jenna-rajani
(678) 640-4262

SKILLS

JavaScript - TypeScript - React - Angular
Node.js - Express - Sequelize - MySQL - Postgres
SASS - jQuery - HTML/CSS - HighCharts
Git - Webpack - Gulp - Agile - Waterfall

PROJECTS

ADP — Service Monitors

Monitoring system for ADP extension services. A dashboard providing easy access to the current status of active extension products. RabbitMQ for service connections, React for UI charts and reports.

CulturaLink — Health System Interpretation Service

Providing video-chat interpreter services for doctors and patients in health systems nationwide. Provides interpreter scheduling services as well as financial and service usages reports.

PSP — Printing Service

Large scale printing service providing promotional signage to companies like Kroger or Barnes & Noble. Upload images for instant feedback in approving sign design, production, and shipment.

WORK EXPERIENCE

SOLTECH, Atl — Front-End Engineer

Oct 2016 - present

Develop clean, responsive UIs engineered specifically for the client's need ground up while adhering to the industries best-practices using the latest technologies.

The Home Depot, GA — Recovery Supervisor

March 2014 - July 2015

Overnight Key Holding Position that managed a team of twelve. Implemented new freight processing procedure and revised overstock storage standards while maintaining store opening readiness.

AWARDS

Employee of the Month - The Home Depot

Customer Service All-Star - The Home Depot

HOBBIES

Playing Piano

Traveling

Intelligent Bantering

EDUCATION

The Iron Yard, Atlanta, GA Front-End Development

July 2016 - August 2016

A 12 week immersive coding bootcamp designed to prepare students with the tools they need to build scalable web apps with the latest technologies and best practices.

CUNY Hunter, NYC

Sept 2011 - Dec 2013

Studied Math, Chemistry, Physics, History, Religion, Social Science... I loved learning, but couldn't see myself pursuing any of the areas I studied. So, I opted to travel, work and ultimately trust that I'd find my place. The trust in my gut paid off. Enter The Iron Yard.